

Calendar Recaptcha Error

November 30, 2022

If you are using Safari as your web browser, the embedded Google Calendar may not display properly and you will receive a Recaptcha error message. This appears to be due to a recent iOS update which caused a compatibility issue between Safari and Google. Our calendars are Google. Until a patch is found in a future update, please use this workaround to correct the problem:

Go into your safari settings. Toggle off "Hide IP Address". For good measure, it's also a good idea to clear your history & website data and restart your device.

An alternate method – use Google Chrome to view the calendar.

We are sorry for the inconvenience!
