Everyday Stewardship Tracy Earl Welliver, MTS © Liturgical Publications

Life was not always easy with my father when I was growing up. He made decisions that led to fear, anger, and sadness for my family and me. Sadly, I was the only one in the family that would truly forgive him for his actions. My mom and sister held onto the resentment and anger they felt. For my father and me, reconciliation led to several years of a deepening relationship before his passing in 2011.

Forgiveness is not easy and I do not consider myself better or stronger because I was able to forgive and my family members could not. However, I can say that the blessings I received due to forgiveness and a renewed relationship with my father were far better than the animosity experienced by others. I also learned that forgiveness benefited me far more than my father. As good stewards of time, we must realize that what we do with that time is completely up to us. If we are wise, we will choose to use it to build bridges, heal wounds, and cultivate love. We can also choose to waste time in fear, resentment, and anger. I thank God often for the gift of my dad.
